Why Is This Important to Alliance Members?

Statehood Act – Section 6(i) Alaska Constitution – Article 8

The rights offered by Congress to Alaskans for statehood included:

1. The right to select and receive ownership title to approximately 30% of the state (102.5 million acres) as “statehood lands”
2. Ownership of all minerals, oil, and gas beneath statehood lands
3. A right of access across federal and other lands to “prospect for, mine, and remove” state-owned minerals on state land
4. The right to manage and decide whether resources should be developed on state lands according to laws passed by the Alaska Legislature and the Alaska Constitution
5. Title to submerged lands and minerals beneath navigable waters
